

Bow Ridge Conservation Area / Kallenberg Quarry

“Nature enthusiasts love these trails for the sights in Lynnfield and the connectivity to the Lynn Woods Reservation.”

---Don Gentile, Chair, Lynnfield Conservation Commission, 2021

Bow Ridge, the highest point in Lynnfield, derives its name from a rocky promontory in the shape of a Native American bow. A U.S. Geodetic survey marker is located on one of these rocks. On a clear day, visitors can see the Boston skyline to the south and New Hampshire’s Mount Monadnock to the north.

The rocky trails are regional favorites of mountain bikers, with interesting names like “Awesome Sauce”, “Chicken Soup”, and “Wicked Hard Trail”. Bow Ridge opens up into the Lynn Woods Reservation, a 2,200 acre municipal forest park in bordering Lynn, MA. Lynn Woods offers over 30 miles of scenic trails, three active reservoirs and additional formal settings to explore.

Kallenberg Quarry was purchased by the Conservation Commission in 1964. In 1847 blocks of granite were dragged to Boston on stone boats (platforms without wheels) to erect Boston’s U.S. Customs House. Granite structures can be seen throughout Lynnfield – in Forest Hill Cemetery, Tapley’s Tomb and on the Lynnfield Common.

A quarry worker shapes a structure.

Skull Rock – a fun, offbeat trail site!

We hope you enjoy your visit to Bow Ridge/Kallenberg Quarry. As with all our conservation properties, for your comfort and safety, activities are allowed from Dawn to Dusk. Please observe all signage as posted. Thank you!

Lynnfield Planning &
Conservation Department
781-334-9495
[www.town.lynnfield.ma.us/
conservation-commission](http://www.town.lynnfield.ma.us/conservation-commission)

Bow Ridge Conservation Area / Kallenberg Quarry

Blazed Trails

Blue Trail – 0.44 mile loop

- Elevation Gain – 70 feet
- Steepest Grade – 12%
- Hilly and rocky trail with access to quarry, skull rock and highest point in Lynnfield, views to Saugus & Boston

Green Trail – 0.60 miles

- Elevation Gain – 94 feet
- Steepest Grade – 17%
- Hilly trail with some steep grades; provides access to many other trails in Lynnfield and Lynn Woods

Red Trail – 0.30 miles

- Elevation Gain – 10 feet
- Steepest Grade – 5%
- Mostly flat trail with views of wetlands. Eagle Scout project constructed a bridge crossing over a wet area

Yellow Trail – 0.17 miles

- Elevation Gain – 17 feet
- Steepest Grade – 6%
- Moderately hilly terrain providing a central access point to many trails

Non-Blazed Trails

- No Motorized Vehicles
- No Fires
- No Hunting

Trails are open from Dawn to Dusk
Please respect private property and be considerate to wildlife by keeping an appropriate distance

Points of Interest

- Kallenberg Quarry / Skull Rock
- USGS Geodetic Marker (HAY 1930)
Highest Point in Lynnfield
42.50894776773082, -71.0029656654544
- Eagle Scout Bridge

- Pedestrian Access (No Parking)
- Parking Allowed

